

ABSTRACT

In this research, the main purpose is to know the credibility of oil and gas sector and the impact sectoral innovation system on organizational performance in the context of Oil & Gas sector Sindh. Based on a extensive meaning of the era, the studies examination the effect of 'know-how and technologies', 'actors and networks', 'institutions', and 'demand' via way of means of combining streams of literature, particularly Industrial dynamics and innovation. The study information was gathered from targeted population and it was investigated through SPSS. The analysis of 390 questionnaires reviled that developed theories are acknowledged in this investigation. The result of this study shows that oil and gas sector has an impact of technological advancement, industrial dynamics and sectoral innovation positively on firms executives in the oil and gas sector. It also provide more strength to study. The results of this study can be apply for other sectors as well and in future this study can be conducted at large scale basis.

Keywords: Innovation system, sectoral innovation system, industrial dynamics, firm Performance ,technological advancement.